A NEW ELEMENT IN THE LAW OF EVIDENCE.

The London Saturday Review is convinced that three things are now thoroughly well established as truths—to wit:

That one in the hypnotic or somnambulistic condition may commit acts of which he has neither knowledge nor recollection when he awakes; that crimes may be committed on the persons of hypnotic subjects when in the abnormal condition that would be impossible in the normal state; that hypnotized persons may be made the unconscious and involuntary agents of crime by suggestion.

Certainly late experiments tend strongly to sustain these views, and the question is thus presented to jurists: "What reformation should be made in the laws of evidence to meet these new conditions?" We may assume that one essential change will be the admission of experts to testify to the susceptibility to hypnotic influences of one who makes a defense of unaccountability and subjection of will. Another will be the admission of experiments in the presence of Court and jury, to demonstrate the truth or falsity of such claims. Since the intent to commit crime is the essence of the offense, and as hypnotic suggestion destroys that essential element of criminality, these changes must be made in order to arrive at the truth. In other words, hypnotism now enters into the realm of truth, as a means by which Courts and Juries are to determine the guilt or innocence of accused persons claiming to have acted through suggestion that they were powerless to resist.

It will be remembered that not long ago in San Francisco a witness claimed to be incapable of testifying so long as a certain person remained in the room, and when the party was removed manifested such relief that the Court had no doubt whatever of the sincerity of the claim that the objectionable party had some sort of control over the will power of the witness.

A case illustrating the first point made by the Review is the Affairs L. R. (Lois-er-Cher, 1882):

A servant girl was accused of having robbed her mistress, and was sent to prison. It turned out that she had been accustomed to be hypnotized, and that she had hypnotized her master, and was allowed to hypnotize her again as an experiment. In the hypnotic state she was ordered to put them in a safer place. She described the place to the Judge, who found them to be the same as those mentioned in her description, and she was immediately released. The fact was that she had become somewhat enigmatical, and if she had not moved the things in this state, forgetting as is usual, what she had done on waking, but remained again in the hypnotic state.

A case illustrating the second position assumed by the London journal, is the Affairs Levy, 1879:

Levy was a dentist who hypnotized one of his patients to commit an assault. She was tried for the same, but when the consequences became known he was not tried. He was prosecuted by the young women's partial service, and was sentenced to ten years penal servitude. If she had not become enigmatical, the crime would never have been detected, and not confessed it could never have been proved.

So, too, in the Affairs Castellan, 1865:

Josephine Hughes, a respectable young woman living with her father, was hypnotized by Castellan, in 1845, a hospital at Hoogly, in India, to commit a robbery. He compelled her to leave her home, follow him and live with him, though he was married. She was compelled to do this, and was rescued, all the facts fully established, and Castellan sentenced to twelve years' hard labor. In 1850 he was paroled, and was granted a furlough, and she remembered being compelled to submit to him by an irresistible power.

In 1851 he was paroled again, and was an expert mesmerizer (he established under the Government, in 1845, a hospital at Hoogly, in India) to commit a robbery. He committed her to leave her home, follow him and live with him, though he was married. She was compelled to do this, and was rescued, all the facts fully established, and Castellan sentenced to twelve years' hard labor. In 1850 he was paroled, and was granted a furlough, and she remembered being compelled to submit to him by an irresistible power.

But it is not new that hypnotized or mesmerized persons can be used to commit crime involuntarily. De Puysegur claimed as much as early as 1774, and for a hundred years thereafter similar claims were made by distinguished investigators.

What is new is the demand upon Courts to recognize the influence. Lately at Nancy, as a few weeks ago detailed in the RECORD-UNION, a large body of eminent physicians entered upon a line of experiments that led them to believe in the theory that a hypnotic subject can be controlled to commit crime unconsciously. That Board is presently to report to Parisian magistrates, and their detailed explanations will be looked for with much interest. In our state, it will be recalled that a respectable body of doctors has resolved to petition the Legislature to pass a law forbidding hypnotic exhibitions and the use of the mesmeric power, under the belief that greater danger to the subjects is involved and permanent injury done them. The doctors did not go so far as to suggest that a hypnotic may be controlled to commit crime, but it is clear that they had some thought in mind, but were not prepared to express it. It is since the California doctors spoke out that the experiments and inquiries at Nancy have been made.

THE REPORT UPON THE RIVER.

Major Heuer, engineer in charge of California river, has made his annual report to the Washington authorities. He shows that upon the San Joaquin river, Mormon slough and Stockton channel, $180,330 44 have been expended since 1887. It is advised that $134,000 additional be spent the coming year besides the expenses of dredging to enable boats to reach Stockton. Nearly $13,000 have been expended upon the improvement of navigation in the Mokelumne river.

Since 1884 $465,000 have been appropriated for improvement of the Sacramento and Feather rivers, of which nearly $33,000 remain available. It is readily seen how disproportionate this sum was to the importance of the streams compared with the San Joaquin and the Stockton channel, for which there appear to be no difficulty in securing annual recommendations upon which appropriations may be based. It is not intended, however, to reflect upon the official in so stating, but to indicate the deeper interest and greater activity and persistency of the friends of the San Joaquin, and the unity of effort and purpose that characterizes them in securing the attention and favorable action of the Federal authorities. It is exceedingly gratifying to learn from Major Heuer's report that surveys and examinations of the reaches of the lower Sacramento are to be made at an early day, upon the basis of which estimates will be made and projects advised.

This means a great deal for the Sacramento, since any such examination will necessarily involve reference to some extent to the need for thorough and systematic general treatment of the river. The matter will thus be early brought to the attention of the War Department, in a way that will enable it to make recommendations to Congress. The people learned the last winter with great surprise that the one obstacle to the making of appropriations and orders for the proper treatment of the Sacramento river was the fact that to that date there had not been made any report of the need for them. There was, therefore, nothing officially before the department upon which it could make a recommendation to Congress. It was the discovery of that fact that led to the movement to have a Commission appointed to thoroughly examine the river. Major Heuer supplements his statement of intention to examine and survey the lower river as stated, with the recommendation that the Board of Engineers be instructed to examine and report upon the condition of the river and submit schemes for its improvement. ARTIST AND LABORER.

NATIONAL PREJUDICES CAUSETH A VIOLENT RUPTURE.

A Pugnacious Attorney Declines to Accept the Olive Branch on His Client's Behalf.

Angelo Boitano is an "artist" in laying cement sidewalks, and for the past year his assistant, or cement-worker, has been a man named Stinson, both being employed by the same firm. As his name would imply, Boitano is an Italian. Stinson being one of Uncle Sam's native-borns, and being rather aged and irritable has never relished the idea of serving under a foreigner. He was not slow in acquainting Boitano of his scruples either, and continually nagged the native of sunny Italy—calling him a "Dago" telling him to go back to his native country and work for ten cents a day, and the like.

Boitano seems to have avoided trouble with Stinson until last Saturday, when the latter engaged a job on O street. Stinson refused to furnish "what he wanted enough cement, and when the latter insisted on being served Stinson called him several vile names, Boitano then lost his temper and struck his assistant with a shovel.

Stinson had Boitano arrested for assault with intent to do great bodily harm. Boitano's examination came up before Justice of Peace Henry last evening, and he was found guilty. He was held out despite the reluctant manner in which all the witnesses gave their testimony. They all agreed, however, that Stinson was to blame for the trouble.

Mr. D. M. Bradbury, attorney C. F. Crocker for its purchase.

The following letter has been addressed by General J. G. Martine, of this city—who has taken an active interest in the project to secure and restore the Sutter Fort property—to Colonel C. F. Crocker for his liberal donation of $1,000 to complete the purchase:

Colonel C. F. Crocker—Is it true that you have the title to the Sutter Fort property which is now owned by the earlier pioneers of this State and known the world over as Sutter's Fort will be given to the public to-day? I am a Native Son of which, and am an honored member of the Sons of the American Revolution, and when upon its walls are hung the names of those who fought and illiberally died to make our State what she is to-day, I would like to have the Sons of the American Revolution, and the Sons of California, of which the State is a part.

This ended all negotiations, and Mr. Bradbury said he would push the case to the end.

The matter was then postponed until this morning, when in all probability Boitano will be held to answer, unless in the meantime he concludes to accept Mr. Bradbury's advice.

Boitano says he will have Stinson arrested to-day for disturbing his peace.

NO MIDDLEMEN.

Hop-Growers Who Prefer to do Their Own Selling.

There was a meeting of hop-growers on Monday at which O. A. Lovold of this county presented a resolution condemning the practice of consigning hops to be sold on commission as detrimental to the best interests of hop-growers, as it brings into competition a dealer with a commission man.

The resolution passed, it being voted that, as the latter had nothing to lose, but every thing to gain, the dealers offering to place the same on consignment were charged a lower rate. Thus he paralyzes the interests of the dealer and grower, inasmuch as no one knows what lengths he may go in order to sell more hops. This naturally gives the dealers an advantage over the grower, the market proves the injury to which growers were subjected in last year's crop.

The resolution was unanimously adopted, and it is favored by all who are in extended remembrance of the same kind which he held that the wholesale placing of hops in the hands of commission men stops all offers from dealers, for with men so interested in getting the highest price, based by a host of these men as to buy, sell, the brewer is indifferent as to whether or else he is wrongly impressed with the idea that the country is full of hops. Last year's hops are worth about 19¢ to 22¢ per bushel. New York hops were worth 6¢ to 7¢ cents East, or a net 4¢ cents here, a loss of 6 cents on the cost of production.

For the record, Mr. Lovold said: "Let us have our hops home on the ranch. Let the dealers or buyers make you an offer and export your hops at home. You will then have no trouble about hops returned to you because of a slack on the market."

New York hops were worth about 19¢ to 22¢ per bushel, and the market was down to 6¢ to 7¢ cents East, or a net 4¢ cents here, a loss of 6 cents on the cost of production.

Motion Against the Awning.

At a meeting of a few members of the Improvement Association held on Monday evening a committee was appointed to call upon the City Trustees and ask that body to condemn all post awnings on the public streets, to be removed within one year. This is the same suggestion by this paper a couple of weeks ago.

Captain P. J. Giles and First Lieutenant A. J. Lloyd were re-elected to their respective positions unanimously.

For the service of Second Lieutenant, Sergeant H. Sullivan and Private R. Tyler was elected. The first ballot resulted in a tie and there was loud cheering at the announcement.

On the second ballot Tyler was elected by a small majority. His election was followed by the detailed offering to place the same on consignment, with a lower rate. Thus he paralyzes the interests of the dealer and grower, inasmuch as no one knows what lengths he may go in order to sell more hops. This naturally gives the dealers an advantage over the grower, the market proves the injury to which growers were subjected in last year's crop.

Resolved, That we demand and will require to be allowed the rate of 3¢ pounds to the bushel, and a fair equal to that on New York hop.

ROADS IN YOLO.

A Subject the Supervisors There Are Inquiring Into.

Yesterday a delegation from the Yolo Board of Supervisors visited the town of Washington, and from there went down the river to the Paine break and thence to Clarksburg, on a tour of inspection.

The members of the Board are desirous of having something done toward getting a road into this city for the accommodation of citizens living near here. One of them said that they would charge a portion of the expense of putting the road near Washington in good order, and thought that Sacramento should stand in, as the latter would get the benefit thereof.

He advised growers not to sell under 15 cents a bushel, concluding he offered the following, which was accepted:

Resolved, That we demand and will require to be allowed the rate of 3¢ pounds to the bushel, and a fair equal to that on New York hop.

Young Hoodlums Punished.

Michael Dooley, C. Covell, T. Jones and H. Platt, four young men charged with battery, were tried in the Police Court yesterday. The complaint charged them with entering a Chinese wash-house at Eleventh and O streets and engaging in a fight with the occupants. One of the Chinamen had not given his consent to the sale of his team, and in consequence brought suit for its return. The trial was adjourned upon the conclusion of the testimony took the case under advisement. Should Heisen lose he may sue Bradley for the amount he paid for the team.

AMUSEMENTS.

At the Clunie Opera House Friday and Saturday evenings H. Gratten Donnelly's farce comedy "A Pair of Jacks" will be presented. It is by the author of "Natural Gas" and "Later On." In the company are E. G. Knowles, late of Daly's New York Theatre, and Mrs. Lillian Hall-Davis, Mrs. J. Savage and Ernest Sinclair, Tenor, Sol Aiken, character comedian, Miss Tellula Evans, who made her first appearance in opera in this city a few years ago. She is a native of Solano county and has a soprano voice, and is a soprano and has singing as prima donna for a year in the Tivoli, San Francisco; Mollie Thompson, a well-known soubrette; Winslow Johnson, the champion female banjo player; and many other people familiar in musical farce comedy. The piece is said to be built on the idea of converting Shakespeare's "Two Dromios" into modern "hilarious fun." The San Francisco "Inquirer" classes the piece among the best of the farce comedy productions of the day, and that it has all the catchy elements that make such pieces "go." Seats will be on sale to-morrow without extra charge.

FORTUNATE ESCAPE.

Existing between Los Angeles, but now injured severely.

While Adolph Heilbron, accompanied by a gentleman friend and two ladies, were returning from a drive down the Riverside road last evening, and when in the vicinity of Sutterville, one of the breast-passes, bridge and the team started off at a high rate of speed toward the city.

Mr. Heilbron succeeded in keeping the horses in the road and in avoiding collisions with other vehicles until the Y street embankment was reached, when the carriage was upset. Luckily, however, none of the occupants were injured.

The run away horses, however, had struck the low city limits, and was a most exciting one, as the road was lined with vehicles.

A less skillful and cool-headed driver than Mr. Heilbron would not have been able to avoid serious consequences.

SCRIMMAGE IN CHINATOWN.

A Chinese Slave Girl Rescued from Her Brutal Captors.

Mrs. Brown, Superintendent of the San Francisco Chinese Mission, caused a riot in Chinatown yesterday. It seemed that a young Chinese girl, named Yot Wah, had been abducted by her captors in a house of ill-fame in this city. Mrs. Brown, upon learning of the matter, came to this city, determined to rescue the captive. Accompanied by police officers Lowell and Frane, yesterday afternoon she drove in back to the house where the girl was kept, and a sudden raid was made. The highbinders were on hand, however, and a desperate struggle between the officers and the heathens ensued.

The girl was finally put into the carriage and driven to the depot, followed by a howling mob of highbinders.

At the depot the officers had a hard time in keeping the Chinese at bay until the train pulled out for San Francisco.

RECEIVED WITH OPEN ARMS.

A Burglar Wanted by the Police Comes Home Again.

Police officers Simmons and Carroll arrested a notorious ex-convict named Tom McCarthy, and another man, who gave his name as John Green, last evening. Something like six months ago McCarthy was implicated in the robbery of an up-town cigar store, and the police say engineered several other similar jobs.

He then disappeared, and was not seen again in Sacramento until his arrest last evening.

It is believed that he has been engaged in another burglary with Green since his return, and for that reason no charges were placed against them last night, pending an investigation.

The Grand Lodge of the Sons of St. George met at Pythian Castle in this city yesterday. The Order was established in this State one year ago with nine Lodges, and now there are twenty-nine, with a membership of between 2,000 and 3,000. An organizer is now traversing the State, and it is expected that before the Grand Lodge meets next year the membership will be doubled.

The girl was finally put into the carriage and driven to the depot, followed by a howling mob of highbinders.

At the depot the officers had a hard time in keeping the Chinese at bay until the train pulled out for San Francisco.
